

DIGITAL LEARNING FOR EDUCATORS, LEVEL 4

OVERVIEW

The Level 4 Award in Digital Learning for Educators will introduce educators to the ever expanding range of learning technologies available to them. This qualification will show educators how to plan the curriculum to effectively incorporate learning technologies into their teaching and enable them to become digitally literate. The programme of study has been designed to fulfil the requirements of the Further Education Technology Action Group (FELTAG) report.

Main Aims:

- To use learning technology in curriculum delivery
- To plan curriculums to incorporate the use of learning technologies
- To develop a learning technology toolkit
- To determine own personal development needs

ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

Level 3 or equivalent qualification in a teaching related discipline.

No previous knowledge, attainment or experience of digital learning is required but it is expected that you currently hold the role of an educator.

ASSESSMENT

All units are internally assessed using the portfolio of evidence that you will build during the programme.

PROFESSIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

Learners who have achieved the Level 4 Award in Digital Learning for Educators could progress to the Level 4 Diploma in Digital Learning Design or alternative further study in teaching and learning (Certificate in Education).
